ENGLISH NOTE PIQUES FRENCH.

Blunt Language of Cuzon Ruffles Britain's Ally.

Country, However, Still Strong for Alliance.

Dream of Agreement with America Laid Aside.

BY RALPH COURTNEY.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) PARIS, April 11.—It appears that Lord Curzon did not choose the polite language to express British sentiment regarding French occupation of German territory. Although the highest French circles are somewhat ruffled at the English failure to employ all outward forms of politeness which should exist between allies, there is no intention here to allow this to influence the French attitude. France still stands, as declared in official circles, wholeheartedly in favor of an alliance with England.

Above everything, France would like an alliance with America, too, but she gives up this dream for the present. The attitude of the French government toward England is that a temporary difference of opinion has arisen between the allies, which will be cleared by conversations during the next few weeks. What France objects to in English positions is the fact that it is a purely negative England offering no real solution of the German problem.

French reports show that Germany is united in intending by one maneuver or another to scrap the Versailles Treaty. If the Ruhr invasion were really a question of policing the district, France might understand England's attitude, but everything points to the fact that it is a movement inspired by the German military machine for quite another purpose.

France believes also that the real reason behind England's abstention cannot be discovered in the Ruhr situation itself. England, France considers up to the present time, has acted as France's ally, but the moment has now arrived when she is torn between a continuance of the alliance or reverting to her traditional foreign policy. This traditional policy in France's eyes is personified by Lord Curzon, a diplomat of the old school, who now is in power at the Foreign Office. The foundation of the policy toward which it is believed Lord Curzon is drawn was laid by Lord Salisbury at the time of the Treaty of Vienna when he declared that the Rhine region must be the cause of a perpetual dispute between Germany and France. It was the fundamental idea of the British policy that no power should be allowed to become preponderantly more powerful on the continent than another. Thus, British hegemony would be perpetually secured.

The British opponents in France declare that within a few weeks after the armistice following the war the British were already talking to the Germans in such a way as to lead them to hope for British support against France. The French think that England must place the treaty signed by Germany before any selfish considerations standing behind the French until France, as well as England, receives the benefits apportioned to her at Versailles.

England, found in Maynard Keynes just the doctrine she needed to cover a revision of the treaty in Germany's favor after she herself had taken all she wanted of Germany's colonies and destroyed the German fleet. Contrary to Keynes's view of the peace controversy, the French regard it as a debt in which all concerned must endeavor to secure payment before turning to other affairs. France has no intention to ask Germany to do what is impossible, but she thinks that those who signed the treaty should make an effort to require its fulfillment.

In well-informed quarters the latest English note is characterized as "dry." It does not demand withdrawal of French troops, but expresses regret that France has up on herself the individual initiative on a question wherein all the allies should have acted in agreement. The note demands an exchange of views between the two governments on all questions concerning the treaty and manifests surprise that the French opinion could think all allies are agreed on the present question.

Millerand's reply to the British note expressed, first, the keen wish to have friendly conversations on the matter in hand, beginning immediately, and it requests England to give her general views on the measures she suggests to compel Germany to execute the treaty; second, France declares that the occupation of Frankfurt is an exceptional act and that it represents neither a method nor commencement of a policy of conquest.

Reports received at Paris state that President Wilson takes a position somewhat analogous to England.

Are Your Shipments Tied Up

For Short Hauls

The shipping tangle which threatens the nation's business and jeopardizes the food supply of communities demands immediate practical solution.

Relief to the railroads in this crisis must come in the reduction of short haul tonnage. The motor truck presents the means and the motor truck is ready.

Firestone is meeting the issue by using the ship by truck facilities which are available. Our experience may point the way to others.

From every branch office of the company during this emergency all tire shipments within the short haul range will go by motor truck.

Tire stocks will be maintained to keep motor vehicles moving and terminal facilities of our railroads will be measurably relieved.

Ship by truck presents an opportunity for every manufacturer and shipper whose consignments to points within fifty or seventy five miles are not moving.

The Firestone ship by truck bureau is at your service with collected information on trucks available, routes covered, etc.

PEACE MEASURE TO SENATE NOW.

House Gets Resolution; Will Postpone Action.

Senate of Senator Knox Given as Reason.

Senate of Treaty Deplorable Hitchcock's Threat.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The resolution declaring a state of war with Germany which was passed by the House by a large majority will be transmitted to the Senate tomorrow and referred to the committee on Foreign Relations to measure until the return of Senator Knox the later part of the movement who intend to bring about a reconsideration of the treaty and its ratification. The House strongly supports the peace resolution and the peace resolution.

When the House of Representatives passed the resolution, it was the opinion of the House that the resolution was the best of the men whose names sent me here. But as a member of the treaty I will say, it is hoped that the future will be that Senator Hitchcock's threat to the League of Nations.

REGISTRATIONS OF MOTOR VEHICLES INCREASE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 11.—During the first three months of the present year there were 316,645 motor vehicles registered in this state, according to figures just compiled by the state highway department. It is estimated that the total registrations for the nine months of 1926 fully 1,000,000 additional registrations will be made, making the total of approximately 416,000 as compared with 318,000 motor vehicles registered last year.

The same ratio of increase is apparent in various licenses issued by the department; the total dealers' licenses for 1926 are 2,282, as compared with 1,846 for the same period for the quarter ending March 31. There have been 2284 registered: 1926 1925
1926 1925
4 $2,282 this year, while for 1919 1918
1926 1925
4 648 chauffeurs' licenses were issued and for the three months of the present year 1,184 have been issued. The number of duplicate licenses issued in 1919 was 9760, and for this year 1927 have been issued.

In every part of the State dealers report an unprecedented large business. This particularly is true of the rural communities. Farmers are buying automobiles as they have bought them in the old-fashioned districts of Northern and Central West Texas the demand for high-price cars is increasing. As the supply, it is stated.

OAKS BELT THE ANGELS TWICE

Poor Old Tail-enders Find the Going Too Rough.

Curly Brown Knocked from the Mound in P.M.

Morning Game Dull Between Crandall and Krause.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Los Angeles took two more on the chin yesterday, but as the men were trying it wasn't so bad to look at.

Oakland copped, 4-3, and 4-1, making it a clean sweep for the away team. Our plucky fund, originally 350, has sunk still lower.

The morning crowd at Vernon wasn't so large that it couldn't be seen with one eye, but the bus did themselves a good deal of harm.

This is almost as well as they support a winner. The people of this town are great supporters.

They support a pennant-winner with one hand, and a tail-end with the other. They are a large, two-handed town, populated with warm-hearted, hot-footed men and women.

The morning crowd at Vernon wasn't so large that it couldn't be seen with one eye, but the bus did themselves a good deal of harm.

This is almost as well as they support a winner. The people of this town are great supporters.

They support a pennant-winner with one hand, and a tail-end with the other. They are a large, two-handed town, populated with warm-hearted, hot-footed men and women.

Los Angeles took two more on the chin yesterday, but as the men were trying it wasn't so bad to look at.

Oakland copped, 4-3, and 4-1, making it a clean sweep for the away team. Our plucky fund, originally 350, has sunk still lower.

DOUBLE-HEADER IS SPLIT TWO WAYS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SACRAMENTO, April 11.—Driving a home run over the right field fence in the fourteenth inning, Remy Middleton won today's game for Sacramento, 2 to 1.

The clubs split the series, each winning three games. Middleton took the morning game at Seattle, 3 to 4, before the largest crowd ever assembled for a ball game in that city.

The Siwash landed on Malt's deliveries during the seventh and eighth and Rodgers rushed to home on the ninth.

Portland pitched creditably for the northers.

In the afternoon, Seattle, with Benton in the box, split until the fourth, when Combs hit out a home run with McGuffan on second.

Combs then drove in the runner for the score in the eighth.

Throwing Cunningham out at the plate from deep right, Score:

Seattle, 3; Portland, 4.

BEAVERS COP OFF FOURTH STRAIGHT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) April 11.—Portland's Beavers took their fourth straight game from Salt Lake, 4 to 5.

In the ninth Malt, Beaver centerfielder, made a beautiful running catch of Krug's drive, which if missed would have let Thurston home, tying the score.

KEPPEN STILL WIELDS HIS MITTS WICKEDLY.

Old Man Charley Keppen, the guiding hand of the L.A.C.C.'s athletic activities, came to life and trimmed Joe Faglione, the handball champion of the Emerald Isle, in two fast games of handball yesterday.

The scores were 21-10, 21-8. But they fail to tell the whole story. Faglione had the nerve to spot Keppen eight points in each game; that's the thing that tickles the ebullient Charley.

CHEERS! OCCIDENTAL WINS BASEBALL GAME.

Occidental won its first season baseball game last Saturday, walloping California Institute of Technology by a score of 6 to 1.

The feature of the game was the pitching of Alcock for Occidental. He struck out the first nine men to face him, and fanned eighteen in all before the game ended. Only four hits were made off his delivery while the Tigers banged out eleven safeties off his rival's delivery.

SEALS CONTENT WITH ONE GAME.

Vernon Takes P.M. Contest and the Series.

Dell Tightens up and Heaves Airtight Baseball.

Tigers Get Advantage of Wild Pitching and Fielding.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Vernon and San Francisco divided honors in today's double bill, San Francisco taking the morning game, 4 to 3, and Vernon the afternoon game, 3 to 4.

In the morning game, two singles in the second, followed by Kamm's walk, started the Seal scoring. Two innings later Schick walked, and Kamm singled. Both scored on Couch's double.

Fisher disputed a decision on Kamm's slide for home and was sent to the clubhouse.

In the afternoon game the Seals found Dell easy in the first session, but airtight ball afterward, while their own pitching, when not wild, proved no puzzle to the Tigers, and their fielding was ragged.

SEAVER IS NEW GOLF CHAMPION.

Rising to great heights Everett H. Seaver of the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday achieved State-wide distinction by downing Jack Neville, the state golf champion, in a 35-hole match for the championship of Southern California.

The score of the match, the final in the twenty-first annual championships, was 3 and 2.

Playing golf that was remarkable for the ease with which he got out of bad situations the former trans-Mississippi champ won out only after waging a terrific battle with Neville. The latter had his opponent 2 up when the morning round of eighteen holes had been finished.

SEAVER'S DRIVE FOR THE EIGHTH HOLE JUST STAYED IN BOUNDS, BUT NOTHING DAUNTED THE FIGHTING L.A.C.C. MAN AND HE PITCHED A BEAUTY ONTO THE GREEN.

Neville had hard luck, his ball rolling into the sand trap, and he was again 2 up. Seaver won the next three holes by making some truly wonderful shots.

The harder the attempt the better he seemed to like it. Neville won the seventh when Seaver missed a 4-foot putt.

LASWELL WILL BUCK BILL RANFT TODAY.

The witting hour of noon today will find three hotly contested games in the annual spring handball tourney of the L.A.C.C., being waged on the club's courts.

In the championship class Maynard Laswell will take on raw meat in the person of Bill Ranft, national champion.

Clarence Bean will fight it out with George Lawler today in the same time.

F. E. Garbutt will tangle with J. E. Davenport in the Class B division, and several hectic encounters are scheduled in the novice ring.

one of deepest concern to the public as well as to the manufacturers. NATURAL GAS FAILING.

W. B. Head of the Texas Light and Power Company of Dallas, called attention to the fact that the falling supply of natural gas in the northern part of the State, where practically the entire domestic fuel heretofore has been natural gas, would force a big part of domestic consumers to use coal when the cold weather of next winter comes on.

which was due to further accentuate the fuel oil shortage. He stated further that many large and small manufacturers in that section of the State also burned natural gas for fuel.

"Cotton gins, he said, which are probably at this time making big plans for fuel, were likely to find when they come onto the market that it cannot be had. He favored making an effort to get oil from Mexico as the question of cars for the production of natural gas in Mexico is a very difficult one.

His company needed 2000 barrels of oil a day and the equivalent in coal would amount to a fortune.

Government reports on the fuel situation were read, showing that the production in January, 1920, was 12,500,000 barrels, as compared with 17,500,000 in January, 1919, and 12,500,000 in January, 1918.

Pre-Season Glimpses of Fetching Bathing Togs.

NEPTUNALIA.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

The Greek festival celebrating the attributes of Neptune, god of the sea, finds modern demonstration in the beach promenade, when beauty does her fairest raiment to honor ocean's god.

Neptune, surely old salt, ruler of the main, need not use his trident to hold at bay those modern mermaids who will soon be sporting in increasing numbers on the shores of the western sea; rather must he attach longons thereto, if he would bring them near, as the season's bathing suits now being shown in smart shops are built upon don't-go-near-the-water lines. Satin, velvet, silk, embroidery; why should these endure the rough caresses of the cavalman of the deep?

However, no more fetching garbs for beach wear have ever greeted my eyes than are now being shown by the smart shops. They come in a bewildering array of styles, and the materials run the gamut of attractiveness. Truly, it is to be a season of sea lures and of more costly bathing suits than ever.

What the Smart Shops are Showing for Beach Wear.

Here are the descriptions of the creations, left to right, with the names of the respective stores given: Top row—Robinson's, plaids and stripes in taffeta, with plaids and striped cape; New York Store, scarlet satin, shirred suit, with cap to match; Ville de Paris, rows and rows of pinked-out ruchings form the skirt, with velvet at the top, set off with a satin cape. Middle row—Myer Siegel & Co., suit of black and white satin, with cape of putty white, black seaweed fringe and applied motifs of seaweed; Robinson's, a jaunty taffeta suit, built upon popular chemise lines, with girle of the same material, a cape of water-proofed taffeta and yoke of satin, with satin ties; the cap is unusual. Bottom row—Ville de Paris, taffeta in greens and blues, surah silk for quality, crowds of white pearl buttons, banded, collared and cuffed with white silk d'espous, such is the novel recipe for the bathing suit on the left; its companion is pleated up and down, each open pleat lined with resida green, in contrast to the navy taffeta; the fraternity hat is novel; Jacoby Bros., off-the-shoulder suit in cardinal weave, banded and girdled with cardinal satin, rolled socks to match, and cardinal rubber cap, tasseled in silk.

FOR NEW CHURCH HOMES.

Methodists and Episcopalians Launch Fund Drives; Plan Fine Edifices.

Announcements of drives to raise money for the construction of two magnificent downtown churches were made yesterday from the pulpits of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral and the First Methodist Church. The structures are to be erected in the business district, one at Eighth and Hope streets and the other on the present site of the Pro-Cathedral on Olive street, opposite Pershing Square. The Methodists plan to expend $100,000 and the Episcopalians $200,000.

The Methodist edifice will be well under construction within a year. The church now owns the property on the southwest corner of Eighth and Hope streets, on which Abbot's Inn stands, together with a vacant lot on Hope street. The property is 155x200 feet.

The building will have an auditorium capable of seating 2500 people

FOR SIXTY-MILE PIPE LINE.

Authority was granted Saturday to the Midway Gas Company by the State Railroad Commission, to issue bonds to the extent of $100,000, to issue forthwith $500,000 of 7 per cent. serial notes, the proceeds to be used partly to defray the cost of a sixty-mile addition to its transmission line from the Midway oil fields in Kern county.

The line is intended to enable the company to deliver a larger quantity of natural gas to the Southern California Gas Company, which has been authorized by the commission to indorse notes of the Midway company or guarantee their payment to the extent of $100,000.

The total cost of the pipe line is estimated at $900,000, and it is estimated that its completion will enable the Midway company to deliver to the Southern California company additional gas to the amount of 10,000,000 cubic feet in twenty-four hours.

The building will contain an auditorium to seat 1200 people. The present seating capacity of 800 is inadequate. Offices now in the parish house will be incorporated in the structure and the diocesan headquarters now in that building will be accommodated.

It is the intention of the church officers to make the building one of annual beauty. While they say the space on which they will build is not as large as they wish, it is centrally located and has attractive surroundings.

SETS PACE FOR LOCAL FIRMS.

Goodyear Takes a Hundred C. of C. Memberships.

Brings Chamber's Total to Over Six Thousand.

"We Believe in Los Angeles," Says Rubber Plant Chief.

A new pace was set for the business enterprises of Los Angeles yesterday when the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company handed in an application for 100 memberships in the Chamber of Commerce. This is the largest plural application ever received by the local commercial organization and brings the total memberships to more than 6200. This is the highest point in the thirty-two years of the chamber's history.

Although other large cities of the East and Middle West have started campaigns to increase their commercial organization membership, Los Angeles has maintained a stride that has placed it third in point of membership in the United States.

C. E. Miller, chairman of the membership committee of the chamber, and A. Y. Soule, manager of the membership department, were jubilant over the generous co-operation extended to the chamber by the Goodyear concern, which is not yet actually manufacturing products. Mr. Miller has been emphasizing the contention that there are many firms in the city which need to be carrying from five to fifty memberships, but which are carrying only a small portion of that number. Action of the Goodyear interests in leading the van, he declared, before they have produced a pound of goods doubtless will stimulate old established firms to assume their full civic responsibility.

A. F. Osterloh, vice-president and general manager of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, who is in personal charge of the Los Angeles interests of the concern, already has become an active worker in the Chamber of Commerce, as a

ONE-MAN CARS START IN MAY.

New System to be Tried Out on Many-Stop Runs.

Temple and Angeleno Heights Lines are Affected.

Kahrts Announces Changes in Official Personnel.

Three changes of importance, which are in line with the programs of Los Angeles Railway reorganization which was suggested a few months ago by the State Railroad Commission, were announced yesterday by G. J. Kahrts, general manager of the system.

E. L. Lewis, for many years general superintendent of the system, has been made assistant to General Manager Kahrts; Frank Van Vranken, formerly assistant superintendent, becomes general superintendent, and George B. Anderson, who has been in charge of the bureau of public relations, is made manager of service.

The position to be filled by Mr. Anderson will have to do with the training and discipline of all employees in the train service.

One-man safety cars of a kind that do almost everything but talk will be put in service in this city about May 1, in connection with the Los Angeles Railway's delayed rerouting schedule, it was announced yesterday by officials of the car company. Forty-five of the new type cars were ordered of the American Car Com-

BUILDING HARBOR ROAD.

The first unit, 2.4 miles in the city of Compton, of the harbor truck highway has been completed and specifications for 5.8 miles more to connect the south end of the paved strip with Wilmington will soon be presented to the Board of Supervisors. The work is being done by Los Angeles county and is the best and most expensive highway construction yet undertaken in the county.

The appropriation for the highway is $125,000, but it is believed the total cost will be more. Six miles of the road have been laid in decomposed granite awaiting the surface. The roadbed is eight inches thick, reinforced with electrically welded steel. The concrete is laid as a unit with no division in the center and there is a three-inch crown. The road will be twelve miles in length, extending from Slauken avenue to Compton and is built to stand the wear of heavy trucking. It is twenty-four feet wide county and is the best and most expensive highway construction yet undertaken in the county.

The surface of the road is smooth, plain top concrete, such as have shown good results in the State and county road systems. Plain top concrete is credited with having less resistance to traction, of being simple to construct and of making trucks and cars less liable to skid.

"Has a minister the right to remarry a divorced person? Let it be stated without hesitancy that he has not—except where the divorce has been granted as a result of infidelity, and then only to the innocent party. In many cases clergy men by private investigation are convinced that whilst the decree does not specifically state that infidelity has been the cause of the action for divorce, they are satisfied that such was the case, and under these circumstances they feel at liberty to give the sanction of the church to such remarriages. At best this is a questionable privilege of the church, not to be practised except on rare occasions."
"The recent marriage of two noted divorced persons by a Los Angeles pastor has caused nation-wide attention to be directed to these loose marriage standards. I do not know all the facts in the case. I have carefully read the published reasons for the marriage. I have failed to see how a New York divorce decree can be anything else than a permanent bar to a remarriage by any clergyman who holds his ordination in the name of God and who represents the pure and holy Christian faith. The institution of holy orders to unite people who are reported to have broken the laws of God, ought never to be held up, except for public condemnation. Pray God clergy men may not set the habit of condoning adultery in high places. Whilst I hold decidedly different ideas from the teaching of the Roman Catholic Church which has exalted marriage into a sacrament, I nevertheless admire that church because of its unalterable stand upon the fact that marriage is not a term contract, but it is for life."

"Yes, I am in favor of abolishing birthdays. I suppose it was some supercilious man who asked whether women are justified in not telling the truth about their age. Far be it from me to advise any beautiful woman to join the ranks of Sapphira and tell big stories. But if it were a woman, nobody would know my age if I could help it; and if some impatient creature were to insist upon knowing my age, I would very courteously, but very emphatically, answer, 'Please mind your own—p's and q's!'"
"There are many lovely women in this great congregation who are so happy and beautiful that they look like the sisters of their own charming daughters and many sons. The real secret of perpetual youth is to enthusiastically continue our habits of study, and cultivate a contented spirit, and love and minister to a needy humanity, and I fondly worship and confidently trust a kind Heavenly Father."

IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN.
"Blessed is he who ever shall not be offended in Me." This is a new kind of Beatitude, which marched out of the jaws of John the Baptist. In the language of the twentieth century it means this: Blessed are those who never doubt but blessed especially are those who step their way carefully over the obstacles of doubt and do not stumble nor fall. It is not spoken to lady souls but to those who have the courage to 'carry on.'"
"There are many objections urged against Divine Healing. There is the historical 'miracle' have long ceased. Well, have they? Anything we cannot understand is supernatural to us, as a miracle may be supernatural to us yet not unnatural to the God who controls law. Well, certain religious object to the baptism and the Lord's Supper, but most of us believe that the physical is the symbol and reminder of the spiritual; that the lower points to the higher. Then there is the disciplinary objection: 'God may send sickness for some good purpose.' He may, but let us not forget that at any given time there are more well people in the world than sick ones; hence we may conclude that health is normal, sickness abnormal."

REV. DAN A. THUNDE.
ALVARADO CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
"We all are witnesses," was the confident assertion of the Apostle Peter at Pentecost. Witnessing at the time and place and under the circumstances the most proper is a very great service to render the cause of the gospel. It is very essential to any great moral purpose that it have in some form unimpeachable testimony to its justness and truth. It is needed to establish facts upon which eternal truth rests. It is needed to destroy the false support of a bad cause, or system. These Apostles from being timid as harvesters grew to be as bold as lions. Very much, indeed depended upon their courage to witness to the truth. Facts will take care of themselves. They need only the support our witness can give them, that they may be established in the minds of those we seek to save. Facts are not all static, but are from human experience as well. We should be faithful in all."

DR. W. E. TILBOE.
LAKE AVENUE METHODIST.
"Religion is not all endurance. Religion is not even largely endurance. The cross is a symbol. It should never be made the symbol of the church architecture is to tell the truth, the cross on the steeple should be made detachable. So other symbols might take their turn. Religion is plain work, so a hammer or spade should show now and then. Religion is culture, and a teacher's desk would be in place. Religion is obedience, and a soldier at salute would preach a mighty sermon. Religion is a victory, and a crown should have its day. In the place where He was crucified there was a garden."
"It is not a facetious matter. Our symbols drive us. Our symbols make us. Some people think they are plous when they cry. They are carrying their cross. The cross is a farce with half the people who talk about it. They get hurt so quick and easily. If all the saints worked at the job as do some of them, the churches would be for rent. They think the hammer and spade of love, yet others fear they have lost their religion—that they began to think they want the too sweet to use the cross. That makes men wise without pain. The folks who mourn that the worst is yet to come need a crown on their heads. While they think the end of the week is Good Friday. They have no garden at their cross. Where Jesus was crucified there was a garden. Religion traces rainbows through the rain."

DR. JOHN SNAPE.
POLYWOOD BAPTIST CHURCH.
"Jesus Christ came to a hostile country with a holy purpose, with a little crew of twelve men. He started to choke the channel sin had made in the heart of humanity. Through the years the shot and shell of the enemy's opposition poured in upon Him and He was unable to give shot in kind, and at the critical moment, when most He needed comradeship and sympathy. His little crew of twelve all forsook Him and fled. He pursued His mission to the end, and finally, with His own body, choked the channel sin was making in the hearts of men. And when enemies were willing to write in letters of His own blood upon the cross above His head the word 'Failure' He cried, in a loud voice of victory: 'It is finished.'"

It is the message of a finished life—prophecy finished—suffering finished—temptation finished—redemption finished. Finished. Victory over death—over Satan—over sin. Just one word characterizes and epitomizes the life and death of Jesus—Victory. This is the true message of a finished life. May this be your message and my message to the world when our life work is finished—Victory."

CONGREGATION EN'AI BRITH.
"Optimism is one thing. Nonsense is another. Optimism does not mean ignoring the tragedies of life. To do so were to deny fact and reality and to be unprepared for them when they come. Optimism is a matter of interpretation, based on the faith. It means preferring to stress the happy rather than the sad, and the determined hope in the ultimate triumph of the right. It means the belief that the evil and the tragic occupy a subsidiary position in life compared with all the happiness and blessings that are showered upon us. It means the recognition that good and evil come from God, and that even our misfortunes play a good part in the universal scheme of things, though at the moment we cannot understand with our finite minds just what place they do occupy in the scheme of world events. God is good and His tender mercy is over all the earth, and all that happens is for a purpose. This is the belief of the optimist, but this is quite another matter from endeavoring to deny realities. We must grapple with our problems rather than ignore them, ostrich-like. And after we have striven with all our might and main to do the right, we must resign ourselves to God's decree."

"Thomas was the most melancholy, despondent, doleful and doubtful of all the disciples. He couldn't help it. That was his natural disposition. Every time that he spoke it was with a sigh. When Jesus was called to Lazarus, Thomas said, 'Let us also go, that we may die with him,' as much as to say, 'It is a useless scheme, but let us go.' He was a despondent and faithful in spite of his despondency. The death of Christ drove Thomas into the world, and he was seen there. Five times the risen Lord was seen that resurrection day. When the disciples said, 'We have seen the Lord,' Thomas replied, 'Except I see in His hands the prints of the nails and put my finger into the print of the nail and thrust my hand into His side, I will not believe.' A week later Thomas and the rest of the disciples were gathered in a room with closed doors, when suddenly Christ stood in their midst. He challenged Thomas with these words: 'Reach hither thy finger and behold my hands, reach hither thy hand and thrust it into my side, and believe.' He said, 'He that believeth and is baptized shall have life, and shall not be condemned.' Thomas moved slowly and quietly but powerfully toward the infinite ocean of God."

DR. C. ELLWOOD NASH.
UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.
"Almost at the beginning of the human mind. It was the idea that labor is a curse, a judgment, and that Adam was a typicalidler till after his fall; the happy man would not work at all. Whoever conceived of a mystical heaven that was other than an eternal dolce far niente? This ignoble notion was the creator of caste; superior men ride their slaves. And the dream of ignorant ambition is to escape from toil and run, in an endless round of abjection and indulgence."
"True, it is not labor per se which is a curse, but the conditions of labor under conditions of drudgery, injustice, inhumanity which obtain. No one defends these conditions in themselves. I suppose that the process of rectifying them is slow and heart-breaking, and impatience cannot wait. However, there is no reason as you may, work will still be work, a weary, taxing, rigorous matter. The struggle for reform is a specious root of the contention after all is an aversion to work under any conditions, a longing for unrestricted play."

'TIS SWEET OCCASION.
Seleman's "Mystery Package" Proves to be Candy Cane.

Yesterday morning's service at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was a "sweet" occasion. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Seleman, opened the "mystery package" that had been left at his door last week and disclosed to the view of the congregation a large candy cane. Dr. Seleman promised that all of his congregation who kept "sweet" from now until Christmas should have a piece of the cane.
He also gave every one who came to church a small stick of candy and read a poem which he had written entitled "Keep Sweet."
In his sermon he took for his text the famous proverb, "answer not a fool according to his folly," and said in part as follows:
"The Christian religion is a religion of love. The church of Jesus Christ should be a royal society of enthusiastic lovers. Life is too short and too sweet to be despised by the spirit of vindictiveness, bitterness, jealousy, and revenge. Let us be tenderly loving to one another, forbearing one another and forgiving one another if any man have a quarrel against you: accept it and Christ forgive us, so also do ye."

Spring
Dresses

Puffs, ruchings—the bouffant is fashion's whim this season; and when did taffeta ever make up more gracefully than in just such modes?

Some exemplifications of the bouffant at its prettiest may be purchased at Coulter's, at $39.50, $41.50,

Make me prove it!

Chiropractic healing is based on the very foundation of anatomical science. It goes to the root of the trouble and effects the cure by removing the cause.
Your spine is the conduit which carries the thousands of nerves to all parts of the body. When any one or more of the vertebrae become misplaced, the nerves passing out between the misplaced vertebrae are "pressed" upon, thus preventing the free functioning of the nerves and producing disease of the organs or parts of the body to which these nerves lead.

The cause of 95% of all human ailments is "nerve pressure," occasioned by a misplaced vertebra.
These spinal misplacements are produced in various ways, such as falling, slipping, muscular strains, a sudden jerk, accidents, overwork, etc.

IF AILING
put chiropractic and the X-ray to the test. Spinal misplacements can be reproduced and seen. My contention can be verified with absolute accuracy. If this spinal photograph proves incorrect, that a mis-placement is not found, my standing offer of $100 will be given. This offer is to any man, woman or child who suffers and wants to get well. Make me prove it.

ALICE MARIAN LUDVIGSON (Mrs. Hilton.)

SECOND TRY ALSO FAILURE.

That months will pass before the authorities will be able to get a clear idea of the transactions involving their prisoner, is the belief of the officers on the case.

Mr. Manning yesterday devoted himself to the work of separating the mass of material on hand and in eliminating from the list of Andrew's possible victims the women who claim to have married him and who are known to be alive.

After the talk with Mrs. Kathryn Andrew, the woman whom Andrew married in Seattle in October, 1919, and the checking of records and telegrams received from different cities the officers asserted that at least four women known to have married Andrew are still missing and that every effort will be made to learn of their fate. These women are, according to Mr. Manning, Nina L. Young of Eureka, Mont.; Gertrude Wilson of Edmonton, Alberta, Can.; Nina Lee Deloney of San Francisco, and Alice Marian Ludvigson of Seattle.

That the body of an unidentified woman found last October in Martinez Canyon may be that of one of these four women is the belief of the officers on the case. Certain dental work found in the mouth of the unidentified woman may afford assistance. A description of it has been sent to the cities from which the missing women came.

SUSPICIOUS LETTERS. Alice Marian Ludvigson, employed by the Grand Union Tea Company in Seattle for nine years, niece of T. L. Graham, 2708 Tenth avenue west, Seattle, married James Hilton, alias Andrew, in July, 1919. Shortly after they left saying they were going to Seattle, R. C. They were heard from in Quincy, Wash., and then no word was received from them until Mrs. Hilton wrote from San Diego before June 1, 1920. She told Mr. and Mrs. Graham received typewritten letters from their niece, supposedly written on board a train and stating that she and her husband were going abroad and would be gone for some time and not to expect letters. The signature and the tone of the letters did not satisfy the Grahams and they turned them over to the police, who investigated.

At the time of her marriage Miss Ludvigson had in addition to the $1000 in War Savings Stamps about $2500 in cash. Hilton called at the Graham home September 1 and asked that her money and piano be turned over to him. The piano was turned over and placed in storage. Graham described the man as being very talkative, but not especially prepossessing. Relatives of Miss Ludvigson strongly opposed her marriage to Hilton.

Why Not Come Here For Your Home Furnishings?

You secure the advantage here of selecting from a large metropolitan stock of the newest and best in home furnishings at substantial savings without sacrifice of quality.

Way back in 1919 we started buying this large well-selected stock—ten floors backed by a reserve in five warehouses now await your coming.

No matter where you live, we can give you good service—your auto places the splendid facilities of our big organization at your command. Home makers from all over Southern California come here—many of them to find things not obtainable elsewhere.

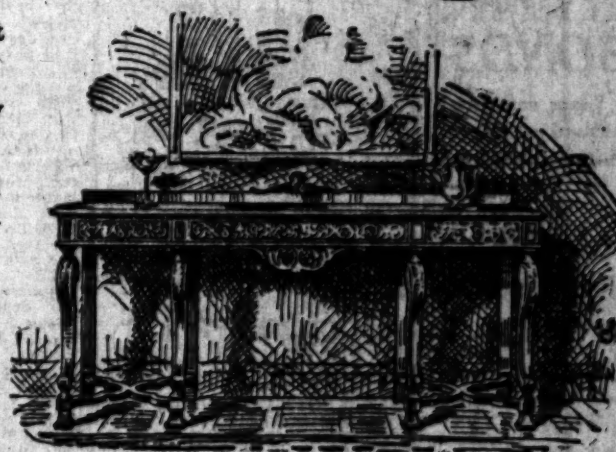

A customer who favored us with an order of approximately $1500 said, "Had I known sooner about your place, you would have sold me $3500 more." Many who come in search of a certain article, end by placing their entire order with us.

May we have an opportunity to figure on yours?
